why
Among temples, religious fervor, and the never-full-achieved promise of development, ten years of Modi government have refashioned India. On the international stage, the country has gained centrality as a leading geopolitical actor; internally, beneath the surface of glorious claims and shining new projects, the political trajectory of the past ten years has brought about increasing contradictions, further marginalization for the most vulnerable strata of society, and insecurity.

In the year of the general elections, the 2024 edition will appraise ten years of BJP government, shedding light on the effects of the political and economic trajectory imprinted by the government, opening new questions for the country’s future. Where is the transition from India to Bharat leading?

Through an interdisciplinary approach, the School provides students with an extraordinary opportunity to analyze key political, social and cultural issues of contemporary India.

Important recent trajectories of social change – as well as continuity – will be explored, encouraging critical reflection among students.

who
Tanja Herklots (University of Hildesheim)
Alpa Shah (London School of Economics and Political Science)
Joseph Bara (Jawaharlal Nehru University)
Subir Sinha (SOAS)
Ashish Avikunthak (University of Rhode Island)
Dipa Sinha
Jens Lerche (SOAS)
Gyan Prakash (Princeton University)

For questions and information please visit our website toindia.it or write to toindia.to@gmail.com